

FuelsEurope launches renewable fuel stations finder across Europe

Brussels, 15 September 2026: FuelsEurope has launched the Renewable Fuel Stations Finder, a new interactive online tool that helps drivers and transport operators locate renewable fuel stations across the European Union, Norway, Switzerland and the United Kingdom.

As renewable fuels become an increasingly important part of Europe's mobility mix, the new platform provides easy access to information on available fuelling locations. The tool is designed to support both private and professional road users looking for renewable fuel options while travelling across Europe.

The Renewable Fuel Stations Finder features an interactive map that allows users to identify the nearest renewable fuel station and plan journeys with greater confidence. The platform already features 4,265 renewable fuel stations across Europe and will be continuously expanded to cover the more than 7,000 stations currently in operation, while adding new locations as the renewable fuels network continues to grow.

Alain Mathuren, FuelsEurope's Communication Director, said "Renewable fuels are not a future concept. They are already helping to reduce emissions from transport today using existing vehicles and infrastructure. With the Renewable Fuel Stations Finder, we want to make these solutions more visible and accessible to European citizens and businesses."

The launch reflects FuelsEurope's commitment to promoting practical and technology-neutral pathways towards lower-carbon mobility and supporting informed consumer choice.
